Care Philosophy

At Willow Park Lodge we are trusted care facilitators, committed to meeting residents' individual needs whether they are ageing well or have specific medical requirements.

We realise that some of our residents have made a lifestyle decision to move into a care home community to receive the support and assistance for themselves or a spouse while others have specific needs as a result of living with conditions such as dementia.

Whatever each person's individual circumstances, we offer a community of care that looks at the individual as a whole and appreciates the lifetime of experience they have acquired.

Care Team

Willow Park Lodge employs people with a proven track record in care provision and invests heavily in training to ensure that the essential elements of respect and dignity are built into all care procedures and processes.

Led by Gaye Clark, Head of Care, who has spent more than 30 years working in the industry, staff are focused on providing compassionate, transparent and person-centred care to the highest standards.

Many members of staff are trained to NVQ Level 3 in Health and Social Care and Willow Park Lodge also uses state of the art technology and on-site training facilities to provide staff with the latest qualifications.

Taking care of all your needs

Care, Treatment and Support

Willow Park Lodge works alongside health and social care commissioners and agencies to help provide the most appropriate care and support for people's health and well-being. Individuals' needs are assessed according to cultural background, language, gender, disability, age, sexuality, religion and beliefs.

At Willow Park Lodge facilities are arranged across four floors to meet the varying needs of residents.

The ground floor provides a hotel-style level of service for people who are ageing well with a relatively low level of dependency. This is for individuals who have chosen to live in a care home community while continuing to enjoy a varied and busy life.

Our upper two floors are designed for people with higher levels of dependency and the members of staff have the specialist skills to meet these needs. This includes residents who are living with dementia as a result of conditions such as Alzheimer's or Parkinson's disease.

The Local Area

Famous for its iconic White Cliffs overlooking the English Channel, Dover is a bustling seaside town and ferry port boasting coastal architecture and spectacular waterfront views.

Willow Park Lodge is close to Dover town centre and a short journey away from Kearsey Abbey, loved for its lush parklands and ornamental lakes.

Residents can take a trip back in time at Dover Museum, which tells the tale of the historic port town and enjoy the medieval Dover Castle home to the Secret War Time Tunnels.

Visiting

Family and friends are warmly welcomed to Willow Park Lodge.

We consider visiting an essential way of ensuring that the daily lives of our residents are as close to normal as possible. Visitors are welcome to share time with residents either in the spacious lounges or in the comfort and privacy of their own rooms.

There's always time for a simple chat over a cup of tea or coffee using our resident's kitchen facilities or with prior arrangement they can join residents for meal times.

There are also plenty of ways for residents to keep in touch with their family and friends with telephone and internet access available in all bedrooms.

Types of care

Arranged over four floors, Willow Park Lodge is uniquely placed to meet a wide range of needs for both short and long term care.

Our facilities and care teams are ideally placed to help those who are ageing well, people living with dementia and those who require respite care.

As people's needs change, we can change with them to provide a truly person-centred approach.

Residential Care

Our ground floor facilities are designed for residents who are ageing well and have made the choice to live within a care home community. Rather than being isolated in their own homes, they benefit from a wide range of support and companionship.

From help with dressing and daily living activities to regular meals and easy access to visiting external professionals such as GPs, residents benefit from a safe, secure and welcoming environment.

Residents are encouraged to enjoy their lives exactly as they did when they lived at home through activities in the local community and within the care home.

As their requirements change and the level of need increases, Willow Park Lodge can provide the next level of care offering a smooth transition for those in need of more support.

Dementia Care

Willow Park Lodge provides a safe, secure and responsive environment for the effective care of people living with dementia.

As a purpose-built facility, the upper two floors at Willow Park Lodge are dedicated to residents who are living with cognitive impairment and special care has been taken to provide relaxing and harmonious decoration incorporating numerous special design features.

From simple touches such as colour specific designated areas and easy to identify signage, residents can familiarise themselves with their surroundings and feel safe and secure.
